Wicked as it is...

(and it is one of the most wicked things to have ever occurred in the United States)...

Abortion is but a symptom of something even more wicked:
A depraved heart that would consider it an option.

As a nation, we have utterly rejected the moral restraints that keep us from the worst kinds of evil.

Until we deal with the core issue, the heart,
we will never win the life-and-death fight for the unborn.

Dennis Hinks © 2003